"Around that time the Secession mailed the free availability of four vitrines to their members. They had been originally designed in the 1990ies to hold studies for the Beethovenfries by Gustav Klimt. I was fast and therefore lucky. Right now, in my studio, I have three of these vitrines one on top of each other, sitting on four turtles that are known, originally, to support two very big bowls in front of the Secession's main entrance. The absence of the drawings inside the vitrines are visible, the colour of the wood has faded around them. The labels of «The Hostile Powers», the main theme of the Beethovenfries, are still in place. But the drawings are gone. «The Suffering of Weak Humanity», «The Yearning for Happiness» and «The Kiss for the Whole World» – all gone."

Activation protocol :

Two persons begin at opposite ends. Attention is drawn in each case to the stretch of ground which is marked by the course of the zigzag strip. When both persons have completed their way, these stretches which they have been thinking of are superimposed like a lattice.

PRINZ GHOLAM

Wolfgang Prinz was born in 1969 in Leutkirch, Germany.
Michel Gholam was born in 1963 in Beirut, Lebanon.
Both live and work in Berlin, Germany.

« Our work is not nostalgic; nor are we interested in commemoration or celebration of an artistic or historical memory. Through our work, what we strive to bring back into the light is what we could define as the impossibility to build a bridge with the past. Just as with the presentation of archive photographs by Nelly's and Wilhelm von Plüschow, during our work at "Kallimarmaro" (the Panathenaic stadium, the site of the performance, then in the video entitled "Speaking of Pictures – Kallimarmaro" performed for documenta 14 in 2017), what interested us was not only the connection that we wanted to create between these sites and these sources but, also and especially, the difference between them and what they represent. What we try to invoke is something that is inevitably lost yet nevertheless returns to memory. We also like the idea of being able to address a rather distant past and to feel ourselves free in its reevocation. »

The video has been shown at Documenta Kassel documenta-Halle: Prinz Gholam embark on a method of embedding corporeal constellations which they internalize from paintings, sculptures and historical photographs. The two videos (with My Sweet Country (Olympieion), 2017) are the results of a five week working period in Athens on the sites of the PANATHENAIC STADIUM (Kallimarmaro) and the TEMPLE OF OLYMPIAN ZEUS (Olympieion). The videos are closely related to the performance My Sweet Country which is presented at documenta 14 in Athens (April - July). Both videos withdraw sources from Delacroix, Michel Butor's text on Delacroix, Nelly's pictorial language, and Wilhelm von Plüschow's ambivalent arcadian codes to name just a few. As a couple, their research is a corporeal activity investing in the reality they encounter on site through a long term practice. Now the embodied source material imposes itself onto the archeological site. Prinz Gholam's performative commitment enters in an immediate relationship to the omnipresent visible and acoustic surroundings layering over the archeological ruins as a public space in a city, and as a site of cultural incompleteness. Working at the exact place where antiquity happened, the ruins and remains symbolize and assert continuity of culture. The activity on these sites, the pictorial source material, and the local cease to be merely cultural heritage. They become a nonverbal yet active language in usage.

"The embroidery (picture) itself is older I did already in Istanbul (2008). It shows the new part of the town what was just in construction at this time, with the new buildings, fence and security. I always had this in my studio and liked it a lot. Just later, I added the other parts what was inspired by this old japan indigo patchworks fabrics (this patchworks are very old a fabric what was repaired again and again always in this Indigo blue, a treasure). So, I started with this one picture (embroidery) a very loved rest over from an unrealized work and completed it with all the blue fabrics I had in my collection at home and added the other embroideries connecting it, appreciating it in this japan tradition."
